OCEANFRONT OASIS Habitas Tulum

TULUM, MEXICO

In the past decade the waters of Tulum have lapped against some unsightly hotel developments that blemished rather than embellished the pretty town. Habitas Tulum, however, is a welcome addition. The hotel's 32 tent-style rooms boast Tzalam wood furniture, plush textiles and bespoke coconut, avocado and honey-based cosmetics. Beyond the rooms' comfortable threshold are a private beach, roof terrace and chef Federico Cappi's restaurant Moro, where guests enjoy Spanish fare with Moorish flair at candlelit communal tables made from reclaimed wood. — MCM habitatulum.com

ESTATE OF THE ART Wanås Restaurant Hotel

SKÅNE, SWEDEN

The medieval estate of Wanås in southern Sweden has long attracted art lovers thanks to its sculpture park featuring A-list artists. Now, two 18th-century buildings have been converted into a restaurant and hotel with 11 guestrooms, making it possible to enjoy a leisurely stay to see art, dine and wander in the rural expanse. — ENA wanasrh.se

SEA CHANGE

Newhaus

DIERNHAGAUEN-NEUHAUS,
GERMANY

Matthias Birkholz and Stephanie Hundertmark are lawyers, art collectors and owners of two for-rent holiday homes by the Baltic Sea. Their two timber houses in the dunes — aptly named Haus Pine and Haus Sand — accommodate six to eight guests each and are artfully furnished. — MSS nehaus.de

UPSTATE ESCAPE Troutbeck

AMENIA, NEW YORK STATE

Getaways don't come much finer than Troutbeck, a collection of charming, historic properties two hours upstate of New York. Once a home, it then became an inn that was frequented by the likes of Mark Twain and Ernest Hemingway. Recently refurbished by interior designer Alexandra Charmpalimaud, the 36-room space retains its original character, while the bedrooms are light-filled and comfortable with enough mod-cons to stop it getting too rustic. Don't forget to explore the pristine swimming pool, lounge in a hammock and visit the 1916 walled garden on the vast lot. — SP troutbeck.com

CONCRETE DECISION The Silo Hotel

CAPE TOWN

Set atop the Zeitz Museum of Contemporary Art Africa (which is housed in a former grain silo), The Silo claims a magnificent view of Cape Town's Table Mountain and waterfront. The façade, designed by London-based Heatherwick Studio, is a 11 pillowed-glass windows and raw cement pillars, and sits in delightful contrast to owner Liz Biden's colourful, patterned interior. — MHO theroyalportfolio.com/the-silo/overview
